REIGN OF TERROR BROUGHT TO END BY PISTOL SHOT

D. Nakashima, After Hounding and Abusing Woman Who
Posed as His Wife, Wounds
Her Twice, Takes Own Life

POLICE HAD EXPECTED
TRAGEDY FOR MONTHS

Many Relief Homes in City Had Turned Woman Away, Fearing Desperate Man Would Pursue and Attempt Violence

After months of hounding and brutal abuse—months during which he took all a woman's wages, beat her cruelly, kidnapped her once, and repeatedly threatened to take her life, D. Nakashima, a Japanese, this morning brought the terrible tragedy of his life to a climax by shooting her twice, inflicting merely trivial wounds, and then turning the revolver upon himself and with one well directed shot taking his own life.

Nakashima's suicide was a surprise, but his attempt to murder Fuji, the little woman who posed as his wife, mother of a four-year-old child, had been expected for many weeks, even by the police, and Judge J. M. Monsarrat had even agreed to put the man in prison because he gave credence to the stories that Fuji's life was in danger as long as Nakashima was at large.

The woman has been employed as a servant at the home of C. F. Loomis, Beachwalk.

Early this morning shots were heard in Nakashima's house on the corner of Alapai and Beretania streets, and when Chief of Detectives Arthur McDuffie rushed men to the scene they found the woman, Fuji, bleeding profusely from a double wound in her cheek where a bullet, badly aimed, had entered and cut its way out; Nakashima lay dead. He had turned the revolver with which he shot the woman upon himself. Fuji was also wounded in the left hand.

Today Nakashima was due to appear in the police court before Judge J. M. Monsarrat, and answer to a charge of assault and battery preferred on September 4 by Fuji. He had been out on a bail of $1000 from the time of his first arrest on August 13, when he had been arrested for invading the premises of C. F. Loomis.

At the time when the woman lodged the complaint she told the court that she feared for her life if Nakashima should be left at liberty, and for this reason the wall was fixed high.

At the time of his arrest on the charge preferred by Loomis, for whom the woman worked, the court suspended the case in view of the promises made by Nakashima that he would mend his behavior in the future. Told of Divorce Papers.

Later, on the pretense that he wanted to allow her to sign articles leading to their divorce, he sent his uncle to Loomis and persuaded him to allow the girl to come to his house. Once there he threatened her with a revolver and forced her to accompany him on a trip to Ewa and Wahiawa.

Finally, on the pretense that she wanted to come to town to get some money, he induced Nakashima to accompany her to the Y. M. C. A. While he waited across the street Mr. Loomis, to whom the girl told her story, telephoned to Captain of Detectives McDuffie, who sent detectives to arrest the man where he stood.

After the arrest the woman wanted to have Nakashima kept in jail up to the time of the trial, but all that Judge Monsarrat could do was to fix the bail at the unusual figure of $1000.

This morning, in fear for her life, the threats of Nakashima forced the woman to come to his home at Alapai and Beretania streets, where the shooting occurred almost immediately.

She was taken to Queen's hospital where the statement is made that she is not in any danger save from shock and loss of blood. She will be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Fuji told the police this morning that Nakashima was not really her husband and she admitted that she had long been so greatly in terror of him that she has blindly done whatever he asked. Every Saturday, she says, she gave Nakashima her wages and then he would make her stay up all night washing his clothes. If she went to sleep standing over the wash tub, she says, Nakashima beat her to wakefulness.

Mr. Loomis confirms the fact that Fuji has been in terror of her life. "The police themselves warned me not to keep Fuji employed at my home," said Mr. Loomis today, "for they said Nakashima was sure to kill her. I went to Judge Monsarrat about the matter and he agreed to have Nakashima locked up for the man was at large under a suspended sentence of 13 months on an assault and battery conviction."

"This promise to lock up the man was made when he and Fuji were playing—just after he kidnapped her. Subsequently, when he was arrested (Continued on page two)

Find Relics of Old Revolution In Excavation

Fifty Pound Cannon Ball Among Curios Unearthed at Site of Star-Bulletin Building

Relics profoundly significant of early days on the islands, when pearl fishers, pirates, bottles of rum, pieces of eight, doubloons and cannonballs were household words in Honolulu are being found this week as the workmen dig the excavation for the new Star-Bulletin building foundations, on Merchant street, proceed further down.

Here is what yesterday's excavating brought to light:
One 50-pound round cannonball.
One American half-dollar, date 1859.
Pair of bone's tusks, four inches long.

Stone ginger ale bottles, bearing a Sydney trademark.
Half dozen pearl oyster shells.
One heavy brass key, six inches long, of the type mentioned in pirate stories.

All these mementoes of other days were found at depths ranging from seven to 10 feet below the surface, and were in an excellent state of preservation, although the soil is wet and muddy.

According to Harry S. Hayward, manager of the Star-Bulletin branch office, an estuary or flowing stream seems to have once run past the spot near which were found the interesting relics.

"The character of the soil would indicate," he said this morning, "that at one time a creek or variety of estuary flowed past the site. All the articles found were well preserved, considering that they have been soaking for so long in the water."

The American 50-cent piece, dated 1859, was rather tarnished, as was also the heavy brass key. The bone's tusks were sound and intact, and the cannonball as good as when it fell into the water, probably during some bombardment of this port in the past."

SMIDDY MAKES RICH HAUL OF OPIUM IN RAID

Chang Ah's Drug Store at Hotel and Maunakea Streets Had Rooms for Smokers

Shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon an informer entered the office of U. S. Marshal J. J. Smiddy and told that official that a certain Chinese doing business in Hotel street was buying opium in bulk, and retailing it to smaller dealers throughout the city.

The marshal asked the informer if he could point out the place where the opium was being kept. The informer answered that he could, and about 15 minutes later Smiddy raided a Chinese drug store at Maunakea and Hotel streets, owned by one Chang Ah, and secured as evidence a quantity of opium and yuen shee, as well as a collection of smoking accessories.

Chang Ah was arrested this morning and is being held by the federal authorities pending a hearing before U. S. Commissioner George S. Curry.

Yesterday's incident was the second successful opium raid that Marshal Smiddy has made within the last week. In the rear of the Chinese drug store was a room that was fitted up with bunks and pipes and, according to the marshal, ready for use by smokers of the poppy drug.

From this room a ladder led to another room in the second story of the building. This room also was fitted up for smoking purposes, says the marshal. Another ladder led to the roof. There were no stairways in the place.

TERRITORY WILL GET $165,000 AS RESULT OF CASE

A reserved question from Circuit Judge Stuart in the case of M. P. Robinson et al, trustees of the estate of S. C. Allen, and Lucy McWayne, against C. J. McCarthy, territorial treasurer, an action for recovery of inheritance tax, inquiring whether the defendant's demurrer to the complaint should be sustained by the court in face of the facts set forth, was answered in the affirmative in an opinion handed down by the supreme court today.

The action in Judge Stuart's court was begun with a view to recovering $9773.61 inheritance or succession tax paid by the defendant on the portion of the residuary estate left by the late S. C. Allen, to which the petitioner Lucy McWayne, succeeded by the terms of the will of the late Bathsheba M. Allen, wherein she exercises the power of appointment given her under the will of S. C. Allen. The defendant objected to the com-

MCCARN HAS NEW ASSISTANT; HE'S TEXAS DEMOCRAT

Former Congressman Horace W. Vaughan Appointed and is on His Way Here, Displacing J. Wesley Thompson

Cablegram From Washington
Says He Will Succeed Jeff
McCarn When Latter Retires
—U. S. Attorney Refuses to Talk and So Does Thompson

[Special Star-Bulletin Cable]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—

Former Representative Horace W. Vaughan of Texas, has been appointed assistant U. S. district attorney for Hawaii and is now en route to Honolulu. He will assume office on October 1, and will doubtless succeed District Attorney McCarn when McCarn retires.

C. S. ALBERT.

The cablegram above from the Star-Bulletin's Washington correspondent confirms the exclusive story published by this paper on September 10, in which the news was given that Former Congressman Vaughan was on his way to Hawaii to succeed J. Wesley Thompson, present assistant to Jeff McCarn.

Locally the news is taken as heralding an early change not only in the assistant's office but in the district attorney's office as well. The conclusion of the cablegram above, stating that Vaughan will doubtless succeed McCarn when McCarn retires, indicates that the department of justice expects soon to have the resignation of McCarn if indeed the resignation has not already been filed.

In legal circles today the Star-Bulletin's news was generally held indicative of a new district attorney before many months.

District Attorney McCarn declined to make any statement today, which would tend to give the impression that his assistant, Mr. Thompson, has resigned or is contemplating resigning.

"I know Mr. Vaughan; that is, I have met him one or two times and know that he is a competent man," said the district attorney. "However, matters of this kind should best be made public as they happen. I have no statement to make whatever regarding this matter."

Mr. Thompson took the same stand as Mr. McCarn regarding making any statements for publication.

"I have no intention of leaving Hawaii," he declared, in answer to a question.

Former Congressman Vaughan was credited, in the letter last week which told of his coming, with being a good citizen and a capable lawyer. He is a Democrat, was born December 2, 1867, in Marion county, Texas, educated in the common schools of Linden, Cass county, Texas; married Miss Pearl Lockett in 1888; appointed city attorney of Texarkana, Tex., in 1890; by the mayor and reelected three times; elected county attorney of Bowie county in 1898 and reelected in 1900, 1902 and 1904; elected district attorney of the fifth judicial district of Texas in 1906 and reelected in 1908. He was then sent to the state senate in 1910 after which he ran for Congress, being elected to the sixty-third Congress by an overwhelming majority.

Two years ago he was defeated for reelection and returned to Texarkana to practice law.

The appointment of the assistant is made by District Attorney McCarn himself and not by the president. It is considered probable that Vaughan was given the commission some time ago, possibly when McCarn was in Washington.

BOWLER & ENGERSON WIN CONTRACT FOR OFFICERS' QUARTERS

The contracting firm of Bowler & Engerson has been awarded the contract for constructing four officers' quarters at Pearl Harbor, according to cable news today to the Lord-Young Engineering Company, the only other bidder. The winning bid was $19,890 and that of the Lord-Young Company $27,254. The bids were opened at the bureau of yards and docks, Washington.

plaint on the ground that it does not set forth facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action in that it shows upon its face, among other things, that Bathsheba M. Allen exercised the power of appointment contained in the will of S. C. Allen, and that such appointment having been exercised subsequent to April 28, 1909, the exercise of the power of appointment by the late Mrs. Allen is subject to the inheritance tax under the provisions of act 147, session laws of 1909.

The payment of the tax will mean about $165,000 to the territory, according to Attorney General I. M. Stainback, who was seen this morning following the rendering of the decision. "This is the largest sum of money ever due the territory from such a source," he said.

"This one case, while it represents only a little more than $9000, is one of nine or 10 cases included in the same issue, and their total will mean this large amount of money. We are naturally feeling good to think that the Supreme Court sustained us in the contention we held."

NO ASSURANCES OF FREIGHT FOR GREAT NORTHERN

Traffic Manager Stone Meets
Sugar Men But Guarantee
Doesn't Materialize

COMMITTEE OF FIVE TO CANVASS LOCAL SHIPPERS

Heads of Big Firms Are on the Coast and May Be Consulted By Cable

When Cal E. Stone, general traffic manager of the Great Northern Pacific Steamship Company, leaves tonight for Vancouver he will take with him no assurance of freight for the liner Great Northern unless such assurance is found by the sub-committee of five some time in the few remaining hours between now and the sailing of the Niagara.

No assurance of freight rates was given to Mr. Stone this morning at the meeting which was called for him to meet representatives of the sugar interests of Hawaii, together with members of the "committee of 15." Considerable talking was done in regard to it, but the assurances themselves were not forthcoming.

At the end of the discussion D. L. Withington offered a motion to the effect that the sub-committee of five from the committee of 15 be given authority to take up with the sugar companies themselves the matter of a guarantee of the 1000 to 1500 tons of sugar that Mr. Stone has asked for in each fortnightly trip of the Great Northern.

Mr. Withington's motion was as follows: "That the matter of securing freight for the Great Northern be handed over to the sub-committee of five already appointed, with full power, the committee to report at their discretion."

The motion was seconded by F. W. Kitchin and rejected by unanimous vote. A. L. Castle, began work at once, his first efforts being with representatives of the pineapple industry who were present at the meeting. Both J. D. Dole and F. W. Macfarlane stated that though considerable freight was available from this source, they could not say just how much.

Mr. Stone made no formal speech this morning, declining to do so, on the grounds that he had already put his views before the people of Honolulu, and that he had nothing new to add to them. Mr. Stone was introduced by L. Tenney Peck, chairman of the committee of 15, who stated clearly that this body was heartily in favor of getting the Great Northern to come, but that the committee itself had nothing to say in the matter of freight.

When the meeting had been opened to an informal discussion, Richard Ivers, secretary of Brewer & Company, stated to Mr. Stone that the present time was not an auspicious one in the matter of sugar freights

FORT DE RUSSY WILL BE BEAUTY SPOT ON BEACH

Officers Quarters and Barracks
Will Be Constructed in Handsome Setting

Decided improvements in the grouping of officers' quarters and new barracks at Fort de Russy, so that each of the eight structures, both houses and barracks, will have an ocean view and will be beautified by trees, shrubbery and lawns, are included in the plans of the quartermaster's department concerning the two new barracks to be erected at the fort this fall, as announced recently in an exclusive Star-Bulletin story.

At the present time, a detachment of men from the fort is busy setting relocation stakes to indicate the future location of officers' quarters and barracks. Bids on the construction of barracks are to be advertised for in a week or 10 days, and the work of moving the quarters will be started as soon as the contract is let.

At the present time, Lieut. Col. B. F. Cheatham, Quartermaster Corps, announced today, the fort's buildings are grouped along the military road leading past the fort in a semi-circular manner. The plans approved and to be carried out call for the relocation of that end of the road at the Ewa end of the fort, to make it a letter S instead of semi-circular.

When this is accomplished, each house, when moved to its new location, will have an unobstructed ocean view, something some of the houses do not now possess. A curve facing the beach, with a grouping of trees and shrubs in the center, making a miniature park, is the general scheme of landscape gardening, which, when finished, will make the grounds more attractive both to officers and their families and to the enlisted men.

"The German airships were violently shelled by the enemy but all returned safe."

WANTED TO LIVE JUST TO SEE HIS NAME CLEARED

Kim Chong Hak, Exonerated
By Grand Jury; Says Syngram Rhee Drove Him to Suicide Attempt

Kim Chong Hak, exonerated in the Korean National Association, who turned a gun upon himself late yesterday afternoon in an effort to end his life but succeeded only in wounding himself in the corner of the mouth, left a note written just before his attempt at suicide in which he explains his contemplated act to the police.

Hak recalls in his note the fact that he was arrested several months ago on the charge of having embezzled $1500 of the funds of the association. At that time, he says in the note, he wished to end his life, but he did not wish that people should think him guilty of theft and resolved to postpone the act until he should have been cleared of guilt.

He was cleared of all guilt when the grand jury refused to indict him on the charge because of insufficient evidence, says the note.

There are two parties in the Korean association, one of older and the other of younger men. Of the former Hak was the leader; of the younger organization Dr. Syngman Rhee is said to be the head. From the moment when the grand jury returned a verdict of "no true bill" in favor of Hak, Rhee made the life of the accused man miserable, says Hak, by continual persecutions and accusations. As a result of unhappiness and disappointment Hak resolved to end his life this morning.

His first shot, however, was badly aimed, and before he could shoot again he was seized by several of his countrymen and held until the detectives arrived. He will be out of the hospital in a few days.

He mentions in the note a valise containing all of his papers which he commends to the police as he then to examine. The contents of the valise could not be discovered this morning.

JOHN J. CARDEN, PIONEER, DIES; HEART TROUBLE

Father of Deputy City and County Attorney; First Came to Honolulu in 1880

John J. Carden, one of the best known residents of Honolulu, and father of W. T. Carden, second deputy city and county attorney, died at the family home, 1520 Fort Street, shortly before noon today, death being due to heart trouble.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, probably at 3 o'clock, from the residence. Mr. Carden is survived by a widow, a daughter, Mae Carden, and three sons, William, Thomas and John Carden.

Mr. Carden was a native of Canada and was 69 years of age. He came to Honolulu in 1880 from San Francisco, entering into business as a contractor. The greatest part of the brick work in the palace was done under his direction, and he also superintended the building of several of Honolulu's business blocks.

British Prize Court Now Condemns Cargoes From U. S. Worth $15,000,000

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 16.—The British prize court today handed down decisions condemning the greater part of the cargoes of four steamers carrying American products into the war zone. These steamers had been seized by the British patrolling vessels and held in detention while the prize court passed on their cases.

By condemning the cargoes, supplies worth $15,000,000 are forfeited to the British crown. The cargoes were mostly made up of meat products shipped by Chicago packers last November.

In pronouncing judgment Sir Samuel Evans, president of the court, said that the ships were carrying many times the excess of the normal cargo. He added that the crown has overwhelming assurances that the cargoes were intended for reshipment to Germany.

Meat Products Confiscated Are Complete Loss to Chicago Packers

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 16.—The meat confiscated by the British government is a complete loss to the Chicago packers, there having been no advance payments made by the purchasers, according to statements by packers today.
